

Nathalie ROZENCWAJG (London, United Kingdom) UIA alternate juror

Architect, NAME architecture

Nathalie Rozenchwajg is the founder of international architecture practice, NAME.

Her work is diverse, bespoke and distinctive, creating culturally significant projects which maximise the architectural potential of buildings.

Her projects include the award winning Grade II listed Town Hall Hotel in Bethnal Green, an Arctic resort in Lapland, a shopping mall in Bangkok, and a recently completed residential building in London.

Nathalie is a graduate of the AA. She was shortlisted for the AJ's Emerging Woman Architect of the Year and identified by The Guardian newspaper as one of its '10 women architects to watch'.
